Wonderful Cave.

Miners in cinking a shalt on a mining claim on Cow mountain, Colorado, came upon a remarkable cave. A man was picking in the bottom of a ten-foot hole when he suddenly stack the point of his pick through the rock Cord having been confirmed and have into apparently unlimited space. He cautiously investigated and gradually opened up a pit that led to the other dropped into the hole, however, struck bottom in about two seconds or less, showing that the cave was not deep at that point. The men got a rope and fastening it tight above, descended to explore the immense cavera, which proved to be a veritable storehouse of ice. Stalogmites and stalactites of pure ico stood like cypress trees from the floor and hung like a ghostly fringe from the ceiling. Exploration was not carried very far, as a yawning abyes was encountered at about 50 feet from the entrance. Chunks of ice thrown down this abyes could be sides, but never a sound of bottom bethe telegram home to mother. The little ceremony, the change was made ing touched. On the Nock and Great Weakness Caused by Impure Blood-Was Constantly Crowing Worse.

"When by you was 5 years old he was In very poor health and we could get nothing to relieve him. At the age of 7 years he began to complain of sereness on both sides of his neek and soon lumps began to gather on one side and grew to half the size of an eng. We then became more uncasy and began to doctor him for serofala. He gradually grew worse, however, until at the sge of twelve years wa had lost all hope of his recovery. He became so weak he could sit up but a few minutes at a time. My wife saw Head's Sarsspariila recommended as a great blood parifier and we sent and got a bottle. We began giving our boy the medicine according to directions and it was not long before we saw he was improving. He continued taking it until he was in very good beatth. He is now 13 years old and is well. We recommend Hood's Sarsaparitta for all troubles caused by impure blood." S. M.
